If I volunteered at an animal shelter I would do all these things to take care of all the animals. I would give the animals food and water and treats for being good. I would also make sure all the animals are happy and healthy.

I would tell people to get a new pet so that the animals get good homes. If they do not get homes I would be sure they have clean cages every day. I would also train the animals so that when they get homes their new owner does not have to worry about training the animal that they got. I would also go out on the street so that I could spread the word that animals need new homes, so the animals at the shelter could get homes.

I would also walk and play with the animals so that they could get exercise. I will tell people that do not have pets to get one so that they can have someone to take care of and be with.

I can groom them so that they could look nice when they get owners. First I would give the animal a haircut. Then I would give them a bath so that they could look and smell good. After that I would brush the animal's fur.

At night and day I could watch the animals so they would have company, be taken care of, and not get kidnapped. I would also go out on the street to collect stray animals so they would not get hurt. I will tell people at the pet store to go to the shelter because it would save an animal's life and it is less expensive to adopt a pet at the shelter. I could also socialize animals so they could get along.
