Two things pets need are rest and a caring family. One thing our pets need are rest. They need rest to get more explosive energy! They also need rest to not be lazy or sleepy.

Another thing pets need are a loving caring family. They need a family to love and look up to. They also need a family to walk to the park and wag their tail at the speed of light when they get there. They need a family to feed them crunchy, delicious mouth-watering pet food. Most importantly, pets need a family to play with them, so they won't be lonely. Clearly pets need more things than food and water and shelter like rest and a family. I hope that this taught you that pets need more things than food, water, and shelter.
