

Your right to waive confidentiality

Information associated with your Arlington Water Utilities account, such as address, telephone number, water usage, and amount billed, is confidential under Texas law unless you request that the information be disclosed to the public. If you want information from your account to be available to the public through open records requests to the City of Arlington, check the box below and return it to Arlington Water Utilities by mail or in person.

Please note that Arlington Water Utilities (AWU) may be required to provide your account information to federal and state agencies, other utilities, consumer reporting agencies, AWU contractors, other governmental agencies, and persons you have authorized in writing to receive the information.

- I request that my personal information be open to disclosure.
(This request can be rescinded by notifying Arlington Water Utilities by written communication.)
