We, The Seniors by Mildred Jacobson

Written during fundraising campaign to buy building from HRA. Fundraising completed in 1985.

*They said we couldn't do it
We were only wasting time,
The goal too high and difficult
But we had no doubt of mind...*

*So we started making posters
Began to outline plans,
Formed committee's had some meetings
Still think we can't? We Can!*

*We placed a thermometer in the window
And one upon the wall
Each week, one in the paper
To show our progress made, to all*

*We made a list of everyone
We met some at their door
We sometimes had to talk a lot,
Knowing this isn't 'forever more:*

*Then we telephoned day after day
We designed a logo too,
And put it on a button
With our own red, white and blue*

*We mounted them on poster board
And place them in the stores,
And shops and every place
Buttons everywhere galore*

*The front window made the center dim
With long lists of donors names,
Each week the ink of the thermometer
Climbed, it never stayed the same*

*Ah! yes they said we couldn't do it
Senior Citizens much too slow,
But with our determination
We watched the monies grow*

*Have you seen the figures lately?
Now what have you to say?
We met the challenge, kept our faith
And we did it anyway!*
