Easter surprise at the senior center

I helped hand out lunches at the Senior Activity Center earlier today. It was a treat to see people on South Grady Way as we review how they are feeling and adjusting to our new normal.

Community Services staff have done an amazing job keeping connected with this segment of our population. Today, one dressed as the Easter bunny and brought homemade signs to welcome the seniors. A third, Donna Eker, made special Easter baskets that were given to those seniors who got a golden egg in their lunch during the week. The bunny even attracted the attention of a couple youngsters playing across the street, so they came over for a visit.

COVID-19 affecting summer plans

April is when we shift gears at city hall and start to look forward to summer, but much different.

Since we started implementing changes to combat COVID-19, I have been adamant that the health of you and your family is my top priority. We have already been forced to cancel our Arbor Day/Earth Day event and our most vulnerable residents. The Easter bunny even attracted the attention of a couple youngsters playing across the street, so they came over for a visit.

We have already been forced to cancel our Arbor Day/Earth Day, Spring Green and Clean and Memorial Day events. Canceling these events is as disappointing to us as it is to you. But it is the correct decision to make when taking into account your health and safety. We have yet to make a final decision on the status of our two biggest events, Fourth of July and Renton River Days, which this year includes the Renton Multicultural Festival.

We do not want to lose our residents with no summer experiences. In the upcoming weeks, city staff will be hosting community conversations to learn what is important for you to see and experience. We will have more information on how you can be part of these conversations in our newsletters. Finally, because our Let’s Go Renton! summer recreation brochure will not be published, we will continue to provide updates on programs and events through this newsletter and on our website.

County to use Red Lion Inn as a shelter de-intensification facility

Last week King County Executive Dow Constantine briefed me regarding the county’s plans to use the Red Lion on South Grady Way as an intensive shelter facility.

Renton Chamber of Commerce leadership, the business community, Renton police and Renton Regional Fire Authority have been briefed on the plan. We are in the process of drafting a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with King County that allows them use of the Red Lion. In return we are asking that a security plan and code of conduct for residents be established. In return we are asking that a security plan and code of conduct for residents be established.

I sent a letter to Executive Constantine indicating our desire to be supportive of the county’s plans to use the Red Lion Inn on South Grady Way as a de-intensification shelter facility.
