CED will perform either physical or smart inspections. Inspections will be accomplished via a telecommunication process (below) and have a section on the plan’s workplace health and safety accommodations. The Community and Economic Development staff have updated the inspections process based on governor’s new phase of the construction restart plan.

To help, CIS established a COVID-19 Emergency Fund in April to meet the needs of the most vulnerable students in our community. We have witnessed their dedication firsthand as a result of this program.

The governor’s phase I construction restart plan has raised questions from the families who have struggled to provide shelter and food before the pandemic and those struggles have multiplied since. That is why the families they serve are in your best interest to assist.

Governor extends “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” order on COVID-19

The Washington State Governor, Jay Inslee, announced an extension of his “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” order through May 31. The order was put in place by Inslee to reduce the risk of COVID-19 transmission and to slow the spread of the virus.

Inslee said, “COVID-19 remains a highly-individualized public health threat that we are responsible for combating. Our actions now are the key to preventing the spread of this virus and keeping our communities safe.”

Inslee also announced that the state is not yet ready to lift the “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” order. He said, “While the curve of COVID-19 cases is flattening, we still have a ways to go to ensure that we have flattened the curve completely.”

Inslee stressed that the state still has a long way to go to fully reopen the economy and that the “Stay Home, Stay Healthy” order will remain in place until the state is ready to lift it.

Gen. Mike Donlon, the executive director, told me that the fund can use your help.

Want our employees to know that their health and safety is my primary concern.

Employees’ health and safety is our primary concern. We notified all employees of the process early on. We also made an accommodation for employees who have certain chronic underlying health conditions, such as those living with diabetes.

Additionally, there are also several recommended things you can do to take care of your mental health:

- Take breaks from reading, watching, or listening to news stories, including social media. Hearing about the pandemic repeatedly can be upsetting.
- Take deep breaths and stretch, eat healthy meals, exercise regularly, get plenty of sleep, and avoid excessive alcohol and drugs.
- Connect with others through phone calls and video chats.
- Get involved in online activities and communities that interest you.
- Reach out to friends, family, and neighbors for support.
- If you're feeling overwhelmed, contact a mental health professional.
